About This Content

Buy a ticket and hop onboard the Duchess Gambit, as Tobar the Ferryman takes you to the strange seaside town of Point Lookout. What secrets does the dilapidated boardwalk hold? Who lives in the sprawling mansion? Why is the Punga Fruit so important? And what horrors lie in the depths of the murky swamp? Point Lookout is the most open-ended DLC yet, and allows you to explore an entirely new and expansive gameplay area any way you'd like. A completely new quest line allows you uncover the town's hidden secrets, and wield powerful new weapons like the Double-Barrel Shotgun against the swamp's dangerous, and deformed, denizens. So venture to Point Lookout, if you dare. Just pray it's not a one-way trip.

"Shine the light in the Raptors' eyes" As I watch my friend shine a steady light straight at the raptor's face while it approaches then eats him. He tries again with my Vive but he really tries to reach for the eyes, same results. I try and then for the first two in game hours there are no raptors in sight. I'm not a fan of horror/suspense but this was downright boring.. fantastic

.....If you can get in a server. Not bad but.... BAD It's almost impossible to hit your enemies. I'm getting a refund... Just save your money kids!. This game is so imaginative and fun! Great puzzles, great little bits of dialogue, and most importantly: cats.. Great game. Much better than Heat 2 but still has most of the same mechanics. The AI and sound is SO much better than 2 and so is the career mode. The new dirt tour is extremely fun and takes a bit of getting used to, but feels awesome when you do. The crash models are way better than 2 if you like the wrecks. Overall, a great game. This is a rare type of game: a single-player strategy game. I highly recommend this game to people who love strategy games. It's a little hard to learn, but is rather simple to play once you know how it works. I don't know if I can call it "deep" yet (maybe I haven't played it enough), but it's definitely challenging and you won't always win.

It's a very barebones game. There's only the tutorial, an options menu, and the one game mode that has you fighting to earn enough victory points within a certain number of turns. The number of victory points required increases and the turn limit decreases everytime you win, so the game remains consistently challenging.

I think strategy buffs will pick this game up very quickly. I can't yet speak on how many hours of enjoyment they might get out of it before they feel like they've learned it all.. so far, the only negative thing i have to say for this, is the slow crawl walking, that said, i still feel it works for the pace of the game. I'd like to add that i love the bathroom scene, that cracked me up.

Passionate Research + Krila = "Dance, Long-Eared Beasts!" x16. Well.... it's a game. I got all the achievements in my first play through. It's just a 10 min game that you will finish and never come back to.. Arkanoid meets Binding of Isaac, so ♥♥♥♥ing worth it!. Waste of money. I lost 19,99 euros on this game. The controls are AWFUL! I need my money back. Why would they put a big price on an awful game like that?????. This game is a joy. I had it open for less than 5 minutes and the first level got me cracking a smile, and again every time they reveal a new mechanic. Intuitively satisfying. The interface is elegant and the gameplay is rewarding. Wear headphones for some intense ASMR: you will feel like you've entered a sacred realm of pure blissful geometry. Looking forward to user submitted content or DLC. I can't believe The Witness costs $40 compared to this.

A steal at $5. Get it or regret it.. I really enjoyed this game, it's a little short like 2-4 hours max but keeps you intrigued the whole time. Some of the puzzles seem a little too obscure to solve at times BUT there's a hint system that helps right when you need it if stuck. Overall I would highly recommend this game for anyone looking for a unique mystery horror/thriller experience. I couldn't stop playing it, I just had to know what was going on, love that feeling.. I bought this game for $1.00 thanks to a coupon I got while crafting badges, and although I've only played 10 minutes total as of the moment I'm writing this review, I already don't regret buying this game!. Game was good, now bad. Sad tbh, it happened.
